

facing fierce competition, a government agency hires more than 50 candidates in two months with RPO.

industry: national government agency

challenge

With its graduate program facing high competition when recruiting candidates across Australia, the agency needed to speed recruitment and find more efficient ways to engage talent wherever they are located.

solution

Recruitment process outsourcing (RPO) manages key recruiting activities, including screening, video interviewing, online assessments and overall candidate management.

key results

In just two months, the agency assessed 553 applicants and conducted 407 video interviews. Of the 121 candidates invited to an assessment center, 108 participated and 51 candidates were ultimately hired.

> read the full case study

