

2021's top talent trends for Poland.

72%
say their talent strategies are now more focused on workforce agility than ever before.

80%
say their business will consider some sort of permanent work-from-home policy.

58%
say a wellness program is extremely or very important to attracting talent.

61%
believe their workforce was just as productive or more productive working from home than prior to the pandemic.

66%
say talent analytics play a critical role in sourcing, attracting, engaging and retaining talent.

34%
say talent scarcity has either made a negative impact or been one of their organization's biggest pain points.

20%
of employees were working remotely before the pandemic, and that doubled to 43% as of Q4 2020.

64%
say it's either extremely or very important to have a robust diversity and inclusion strategy to attract and retain talent.

83%
believe reskilling their employees will help retention.

70%
believe workers' expectations of employers are continually increasing.

get your 2021 Talent Trends Report